ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Widow of Murdered Lawyer

MRS. CLIFFORD M. HICKS.

BRITISH IMPRISON ALLEGED WOMAN AGENT OF SOVIET

Typist of German Birth to Be Deported After Serving Term for Fraud in Obtaining Passport.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 3.—Kate Guss-feldt, alias Blaser, alias Ethel Chiles, began a two months' term of imprisonment today, at the end of which she will be deported.
Having been found guilty of conspiring to obtain a British passport under false pretenses.

Scotland Yard officers, however, declare she was engaged in espionage against a friendly foreign power, while the Daily Mail describes her as a "dangerous international spy" and says that, although she is of German nationality, she has been active in Great Britain as "one of Moscow's most active agents."

Her baggage, according to the police, contained among other things a supply of invisible ink and documents written with this

From all accounts the pretty 28-year-old typist seems to have been closely associated with British communists, and it is stated
she was a member of the Communist Party in 1924, when she was given a conditional permit to remain in the country. She exchanged clothing with Mrs. Helen Crawford, secretary of the International Workers' Relief Committee.

Kate Gussfeldt is a woman of athletic build, who has been familiar with the British police since February, 1924, when she was given a conditional permit to remain in the country. She exchanged clothing with Mrs. Helen Crawford, secretary of the International Workers' Relief Committee.

The grand jury at the same time took cognizance of mob demonstrations which followed the arrest of the Negro and issued a warning that action would be taken against anyone participating in further attempts to inflict summary punishment.

This jury proposes to do its duty under any and all circumstances," the statement said "and any misguided citizen who attempts to take the law in his own hands will have the same measure of justice meted out to him."

Neither Mrs. Hicks nor Mrs. Blaser gave the detectives any clue to the identity of the woman with Hicks at the Elks' Club shortly before the murder.

A pair of woman's gray kid gloves was found on the north side of Watson road 100 yards from the body. The gloves, size 7, were soiled and worn, and had fancy cuffs embroidered with blue and gray silk thread. On the metal snap were the words "Made in France" and small holes in the ring finger of each glove indicated the owner had worn two rings.

Another clue picked up about five feet from the body was a small handkerchief of cheap material with a red border in one corner. Clinging to it were three or four short black hairs and one red hair. In Hicks' pockets were two good quality linen handkerchiefs, one of which had opposite corners tied together.

The extraordinary manner in which Hicks managed his affairs was commented upon by Dummeyer.

Although he maintained his "front" by the large daily deposits at the Union-Easton Trust Co., and pretended that he put thousands in the bank every day,
Hicks was a borrower, Dummeyer says.

He said he knew Hicks well, having met him at the time of his trouble through James Rector, former law associate of Hicks and Dummeyer's attorney. Recently he and Hicks had been working together in the business of small loans to be engineered for the company by Hicks' paper to the extent of $2,000.

Hicks' banker, J. L. Crain, president of the Bank and Trust Co., said today he was greatly mystified by his financial transactions. Crain said the size of Hicks' daily deposits and the fact that he invariably checked out almost all he put in each day had not given him a good impression of Hicks.

The carelessness with which Hicks handled his funds aroused comment, also. Frequently, Blaser said, Hicks would deposit amounts to the bank in cash in his hand, and make 50 calls

The next day, Friday, Hicks called me up and asked me to meet him at Hotel Statler. I did so, and he asked if I would obtain a room for him at the Mayfair in the name of J. L. Barnett.

Hicks had borrowed $3500 from another finance company a week ago and pretended that this company had Hicks' paper to the extent of $2,000.

or were ferried to safety by relief boats.

Two great rescue fleets piled the waters of the Lower Mississippi, roamed the swollen reaches of the Red, Ouachita, Black and other tributaries and sent great units of small skiffs and motorboats across the flooded fields to take off marooned flood towns.

For today and Jonesville, La., are being inundated and many of their residents are taking to high ground.

Ferriday is being engulfed by backwaters from the Mississippi flowing through four breaks in the levees at Glasscock, Brabston and Bouger. Jonesville is being flooded by backwaters from the Black River. Present expectations are that the water there will be 10 feet deep before the flood crest is past.

Secretary of War Davis to Go to Flood Area.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—President Coolidge has directed Secretary Davis of the War Department to accompany Secretary Hoover tomorrow when Hoover returns to the Mississippi flood area in order that the engineer corps of the army and the Mississippi River Commission may expedite a report on flood prevention measures.

All departments of the Government which can co-operate in flood relief have now been drawn into the service, the President understands and he feels that there is no possibility of him helping the situation by a personal inspection tour.

The Engineer Corps and the River Commission will gather data upon the river problem and are expected to assemble it for the guidance of Congress.

Two additional seaplanes have been ordered from Pensacola, Fla., to Baton Rouge for duty in the flooded areas of the lower Mississippi. Army engineers reported that new breaks in the levees between Natchez and Baton Rouge had necessitated the immediate service of a squadron of seaplanes at that point to help in the direction of rescue work. Fifteen planes previously had been ordered to report at Baton Rouge.

Text of President's Appeal Asking for $10,000,000 Fund.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The proclamation issued by President Coolidge appealing for contributions to bring the Red Cross Flood Relief Fund to a minimum of $10,000,000—twice the amount originally sought, follows:

"The situation in the Mississippi Valley has developed into a grave crisis affecting a wide area in several states. There are now more than 200,000 flood refugees who have been driven from their homes. This number is being increased daily as fresh breaks in the levees inundate the country on either side of the river, driving the inhabitants to points of safety.

"These refugees are being fed, sheltered and clothed by the American Red Cross, acting as the agent for the American people. The burden of their care will continue for many more weeks.

"Because of the vast increase in the flooded area, the sum already called for will prove insufficient. The members to be cared for have doubled since that call, and the crest of the flood has not reached all parts.

"In order that these thousands of homeless fellow citizens may continue to receive aid, a minimum of $10,000,000 will be needed, and it is therefore desired that the quotas originally assigned as a minimum to the various communities should be doubled.

"As President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I am therefore urging our people to give promptly and most generously so that sufficient funds may be received to alleviate the suffering among many thousands.

"For the purposes of co-ordination and effectiveness in the administration of the funds, I recommend that all contributions be forwarded to the nearest local Red Cross chapter, or to the American National Red Cross headquarters offices at Washington, St. Louis or San Francisco. (Signed) "CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Red Cross Relief Fund Now $5,384,979.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The Red Cross Mississippi flood relief fund today totaled $5,384,929. The minimum set is $10,000,000. Eastern States have contributed $3,282,000, midwestern, $1,470,000 and Pacific, $424,000.

Open Discussion of Flood Reparations

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, May 3.—Discussion in the open of reparations for the inhabitants of flooded St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes was demanded here today by their spokesman at a meeting of the committee which is to assess damages for the sacrifices made by these people so that New Orleans might be saved.

The committee went into executive session, however. District Attorney L. H. Perez, for the parish inhabitants declared such action would "shake the confidence" of the people driven from their homes and business by the flood waters pouring through the artificial crevasses at Caernavon. Perez told the committee the exiles from the southeastern parishes wanted to be assured of fair treatment.

"It will be three months before the waters recede," Perez said, and these inhabitants will be without a means of livelihood and crops for the summer will be ruined."

In all, Dr. Redden estimated that about 75,000 refugees have been given typhoid and smallpox immunization.

ATTACK ON RUSSIAN

Powers Opposed to Having Leagues' Seat in Geneva May Hamper Negotiations, Is Berlin's View.

By ARTHUR E. MANN,

Copyright 1937, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., New York World.

BERLIN, May 3.—The Russian Government believes enough concrete questions will be discussed at the League of Nations economic conference to warrant active cooperation of a soviet delegation, according to advices from Moscow. It is emphasized, however, that the Russian delegates will refuse to discuss questions of changing the Russian state monopoly over foreign trade.

Fear is felt here that foreign representatives who do not like to see the League's seat in Geneva will attack the Russian system, for it is declared in Moscow that such action would only hamper and have an extremely unfavorable effect on other negotiations in the Swiss city.

The soviet delegation will concentrate on ways of increasing economic relations between Russia and the other Powers represented. The delegates already have been instructed to avoid useless theoretical discussions of economic philosophies.

Chief Three Non-League Nations Attend Economic Conference.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News, Correspondents in Geneva, May 3.—Most of the American delegates to the International Economic Conference have arrived, a Turkish delegation headed by Mustapha Kemal's cabinet chief is here and a Russian delegation is on the way. Thus the three most important non-League countries are ready to take part in what is called the biggest show the League of Nations has ever put on.

With Americans, Russians, Turks and Japanese participating in the conference as well as all the nations of Western Europe, the economic conference will be the most truly international event since the World War.

According to the present scheme, the conference will be split into many smaller committee meetings after the first three plenary sessions.

GENEVA, May 3.—Elaborate police precautions are being taken by Switzerland to protect the soviet delegation to the forthcoming international economic conference. U. S. SEEKS TO RECOVER

Sum Represents Interest on Elk Hills Oil Leases Canceled by Court Action.

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—The controversy over the E. L. Doheny interests in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve leases, whose cancellation recently was upheld by the United States Supreme Court, has been renewed in a hearing on payments of $1,130,000 in interest which the Government is seeking to collect from the Pan-American Petroleum and Transportation companies.

The question came before the Federal District Court on a motion to spread the lease mandate of the Supreme Court on the local court records and also in connection with a new decree which Judge Paul J. McCormick will make in accordance with the Supreme Court decision.

The interest is sought on oil received by the companies from the naval oil reserve in connection with certain contracts with the Government. The Government contended that the Supreme Court ruling had not disturbed Judge McCormick's original decision.

The Doheny attorneys contended that Government and the companies had entered into a mutual agreement regarding the receiver ship and contracts and that the oil was merely a form of currency in the transaction on which interest should not be paid.

Don't Gamble
With Your Child's Future

IT IS the duty of every father to give his boy or girl a good education—a fair start in life. Yet, many men who are amply able to do that today may meet with personal or financial misfortune before the years roll around, and their children attain the age when the expense will be the greatest. But there is one safe way—Life Insurance and the Life Insurance Trust.

Devote some of your present income to buying a substantial amount of insurance, payable to the Mississippi Valley Trust Company as your trustee, under an agreement as to how the money is to be used.

When your children grow up, you may be alive and prosperous. If so, the purpose of the insurance may be changed.

If you happen to have met with financial reverses, the cash value of the policies probably will take care of the cost of your children's educations.

If you happen to have passed on, the income and portions of the principal of your insurance will be used by the Mississippi Valley to provide your children with an education, and to furnish them financial backing for the early years of their lives.

Don't gamble on being able to provide for your children's future—

REED URGES BIG BOND ISSUE FOR FLOOD CONTROL

Missouri Senator Says Congress Should Vote Loan "Even to Extent of $1,000,000,000."

PRESENT DISASTER NOT THE MAXIMUM

Declares Issue Is More Important to Valley States Than Building of the Panama Canal.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3.—Congress should vote bonds "even to the extent of $1,000,000,000," to control the Mississippi River, Senator Reed of Missouri said on his return here yesterday from Detroit, where he has been ill for two weeks.

The calamity of the floods should spur Congress and the administration to take immediate steps for flood control he said.

"Practically ever since I have been in the Senate," he continued, "I have been contending that it was the duty of Congress to harness these streams. It has been impossible to get Congress to do it, so I have, in the name of this country, that we can get Congress and the administration to take hold of this proposition, not by piecemeal or in a little patchwork way.

"This is a great national problem, and must be met in a big way. It is more important to the section drained by the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio Rivers than was the building of the Panama Canal. In view of the frightful disaster to Southern states, Congress ought to make liberal appropriations for the relief of the victims of the flooded area.

"It should be borne in mind that this present disaster does not at all measure the damage which constantly hangs over the great valley states. It has been known to rainfall over a wider area, who can say that the city of New Orleans which lies below the flood surface might not have been wiped out or may not at any time be destroyed.

"Surely we ought not wait for a still greater disaster before meeting this problem in a sensible and business-like way."

CHILD WHO SWALLOWED LYE BEING FED THROUGH TUBE

She Was Gradually Starving to Death When Physicians Performed Operation.

Bonnie Marshall, 4 years old, is being fed at city hospital through a rubber tube inserted in the stomach because her esophagus is closed, due to having swallowed a quantity of lye solution three months ago.

She swallowed the lye solution at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall, 4521 North Ninth street, in February. Adhesions gradually formed in the child's esophagus until it became practically impossible for her to swallow. She became emaciated and was gradually dying of starvation, weighing but 20 pounds when taken to the hospital last week.

In a series of operations, performed by Dr. George Marshall, surgeon, a rubber tube is in the child's stomach through which she is being fed by means of a funnel. At first only liquids will be given, but later mashed vegetables and other foods will be added to her diet. In about a month physicians will attempt to reopen the esophagus by having the child swallow a thread, to which a rubber "bougie" about the size of a pencil will be attached, so that it may pass through the tube in her stomach. The "bougie" will then be drawn upward through the esophagus and out the mouth.

It may be necessary to continue this treatment for months, physicians say, and the feeding through the tube in Bonnie's stomach will continue until she can again swallow solid food.

YOU wouldn't read

irons give you "flick-

But not this iron.

It's Automatic

With the Westing-

"flicker" disappears, for the temperature of this iron varies only

Before it can get too

YEAR FOR 6 YEARS
FOR LEVEES URGED

Gen. Jadwin Outlines Mississippi River Commission's Plan for Raising Height of Dikes.

THINKS THIS BEST
FLOOD PROTECTION

Not Impressed by Reforestation, Since Highest Water Occurred in 1844
When Trees Were Uncut.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-22 Wyatt Building
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Major General Jadwin, chief of engineers of the army, after a personal survey of the Mississippi flood region and conference with engineers on the ground, is convinced the levee system is the best protective measure in sight. Jadwin predicted the present levees will be heightened perhaps five feet as an additional safety factor.

He pointed out that for years
the Mississippi River Commission has been constructing levees three feet above the level of the greatest flood volume heretofore recorded.
Right now they are working on a definite project calling for $10,- 000,000 a year for six years, to bring the levees up to the "commission line."

The engineers feel a similar project must follow, calling for possibly $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year for another period of years, to increase the height and width of the levees and take care of any flood in the future approaching the proportions of the present devastating volume.

Jadwin said the present levee system has an aggregate length of 1875 miles, while the distance from St. Louis to the Gulf, via the Mississippi River, is 1170 miles. The chief of engineers is not deeply impressed with this suggestion that reforestation would end the flood menace. He recalled that the worst flood in the history of the Mississippi River occurred in 1844, when most of the trees were standing. He also is convinced that the storage reservoir plan is feasible.

Jadwin said the flood volume was pa... down the Mississippi at approximately 2,700,000 cubic feet a second. The flood discharge is four to five times the average throughout the year.

Flood Damage to Levees May Reach $5,000,000.

Col. Charles L. Potter, chief of the army engineers charged with maintenance of the stream and president of the Mississippi River Commission, which builds and maintains the levees, returned to St. Louis today from a flood inspection voyage to New Orleans.

"Cost of the flood to the engineering department will be not less than $4,000,000 and may reach as high as $5,000,000," Col. Potter said.

TO SPEND $1,200,000 ON

MISSOURI RIVER CONTROL

Government to Open New Quarries for Use in Reforestation Work.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
CARROLLTON, Mo., May 3.—
The fight to keep the Missouri River within its banks and to protect rich farming land in the valley has been started. Approximately $1,200,000 will be spent on the work projected on both the Chariton and Saline County sides.

The schedule of activity follows:

Baker's Bend (Carroll County side): About 2500 feet of revetment to complete 11,500 linear feet planned; probable cost $6,000.

Cranberry Island Bend (Saline County side): 2000 linear feet of revetment and 500 feet of dyke; probable cost $7,000.

Hill Bend (Carroll County side): 520 feet of revetment $10,000; 1625 feet of current retards $6,125.

Tamerlane Bend (Saline County side): 2000 feet of revetment $44,- 000; 5000 feet of dykes $105,000.

Miami Bend (Saline County side): 2875 feet of current retards
$15,235; 2000 linear feet of dykes
$60,000.

Dewitt Bend (Carroll County side): 3400 feet of revetment $55,- 000.

Fish Creek Bend (Saline County side): 4000 feet of revetment $142,000.

Work under way includes revetment work at Baker's, Dewitt, Fish Creek, Euphrase and Plow Boy bends and dyke works at Boonville and Searcy Bend. The Government is operating quarries at Miami
White Rock, Lisbon and Lupine and will soon open quarries near Arrow Rock and Huntsdale. At present, work is at a standstill due to the river being over its banks.

The stretch of river between Waverly and Glasgow is considered the most difficult and expensive section to improve between Kansas City and the mouth, due to the fact that the river meanders around through the bottom without having bluff contact except for a short distance at Miami.

In other localities occasional stretches will be found where the river follows a rock bluff for miles and very little work is required.

NICARAGUANS EFFECT TRUCE OF 48 HOURS

Warfare Suspended to Let Liberal Leader Meet Envoy of Coolidge.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 3.—A 48-hour truce in the warfare between the Liberal and Conservative Governments in Nicaragua became effective at noon today. The purpose of the truce is to allow Gen. José María Moncada, Liberal military leader, to travel to Tigrapal to consult with Henry L. Stimson, personal representative of President Coolidge, who has been conducting peace discussions with Liberal delegates in Managua. The truce was authorized this morning by Moncada and Gen. Víquez, Conservative, and officially approved by Presidents Cacasa, Liberal, and Diaz, Conservative.

LOS BANDEROS, Nicaragua, May 3.—A special mission of Liberals which left Managua to consult with Gen. José María Moncada, Secretary of War and chief military commander for Dr. Juan Sacasa, head of the Liberal Government, has arrived here.

The object of the mission is to obtain Moncada's views on a peace settlement with the Conservatives. It is headed by Cordero Reyes, one of the Liberal delegates representing Sacasa in the peace negotiations with Henry L. Stimson, personal representative of President Coolidge.

Moncada's views will be sent by radio to Stimson, if the General is unable to accompany the mission back to Managua or some other point for the purpose of meeting the Conservative delegates for a conference.

Meanwhile, the discussions which have been in progress at Managua continue.

GOOD-WILL FLIGHT
LEADER MAY MAKE
U.S. TOUR IN PLANEWar Department Considers Having Maj. Dargue Visit
New York, Chicago and Other Cities.COMPANIONS WILL NOT ACCOMPANY HIMAviators Now Drawing Up
Report of 20,000-Mile
Tour of Latin America
That Ended Yesterday.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 3.—A tour of principal American cities by Maj. Herbert A. Dargue, leader of the army's Pan-American good-will flight was under consideration at the War Department today with the airmen rested after completing their 20,000 mile journey here yesterday.

Details of the tour have not been worked out but it is believed Dargue would make the flight in his flagship, New York II, some time during the summer, touching New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and possibly far western cities. A record set on tour has reached the War Department but officials feel they cannot be compiled.

Congratulations of Major-General Mason M. Patric, chief of the Army air corps, were extended to the flyers at the General's office today. They will present an official report of their flight during the week, then well go on leave of absence.

President Coolidge at Bolling Field here received the flyers when they arrived late yesterday afternoon on the last leg of their journey.

"Mr. President," Dargue said. "You gave us a mission of goodwill to perform. I hope we have done it to your satisfaction. We carried messages from you to the countries we visited, and we bring back physical evidence of the pleasure which they were received."

As he spoke, Dargue handed the President the written replies of the chiefs of the states to the South.

"I thank you, Maj. Dargue," the President said. That was the only official exchange of greetings.

In formal recognition of their work, the President had added each of the eight a certificate of award which will be followed later by presentation of distinguished flying crosses, still under design. Then they posed with the President for pictures.

Presumably their ships will go to Dayton for engineering inspection, but for the present will remain available for exhibition by their pilots.

Half a dozen planes accompanied the flyers from Langley Field, Va., their last stop, and another half dozen rose here to join the honor escort.

BEER SEIZED BY POLICE SQUAD
AT ROCK SPRINGS TURNER HALL

There was a social gathering last night at Rock Springs Turner Hall, 4258 Chouteau avenue. Detective-Sergeant Coakley and his rum squad men dropped in at 8:45 o'clock but were all business. They reported finding three buckets of beer in plain view on the bar and a table, and 422 bottles of beer and 20 gallons of mash concealed. They arrested William Wetzel, the manager, and Edward McCoy, the bartender.

Fifteen minutes earlier the detective had visited the cigar store of Charlie Bittt at 4301 Manchester avenue and asked if whisky was being sold.

"Sure," said Bittt, according to their report.

They found two quarts of alleged whisky in a drawer and arrested Bittt.

NEW BOND ISSUE URGED TO HASTEN STATE ROAD WORK

Vice Chairman of Missouri Highway Commission Says Pay-as-You-Go Plan Delays Whole System.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 3.—The voting of additional bonds to speed up road construction in Missouri, instead of proceeding slowly on the pay-as-you-go plan, was advocated last night by Hugh Stephens, vice chairman of the Missouri Highway Commission.

He spoke at a banquet attended by members of the United States 66 Highway Association at Kentwood Arms Hotel here. His speech was construed as an endorsement of the plan of the Automobile Club of Missouri to submit by initiative petition a road bond issue for $120,000,000.

The banquet was in connection with a two-day meeting of the Association, which is being attended by representatives from all states traversed by United States Route 66 from Chicago through St. Louis and the Southwest to the Pacific Coast.

Does Not Set Specific Figure.

Stephens did not specifically propose a definite figure for the proposed bond issue, taking the position that it would be a mistake to underestimate the amount which would be needed to complete the present 7500-mile system. He advocated conferences of good roads advocates and the Commission with a view to accurately determining the needs, not only for the completion of the system as now laid out, but for higher types of construction where required by traffic, and for an extension of the system.

Highway 66 is one of the primary routes of the Missouri system, he said, and under the law must be paved with concrete or similar material. The question of how soon it can be brought to a finished standard depends upon what policy is adopted by the people of Missouri for the future; whether the balance of the system will be financed on the pay-as-you-go plan or with the aid of further road bonds.

"All of the primary roads must be built by an equal division of funds so that the roads which the commission to build one route faster than another. The speed with which one road is finished will be the speed with which all will be finished."

Bonds Would Hasten Construction.
Stephens said construction could be hastened by the issuance of additional bonds.

He said that with the building of high-type roads the wishes of the people had changed and that communities at first thought they wanted gravel roads were demanding concrete, the result being that original estimates of cost had been far too low.

He suggested that communities which could be built with funds available to the commission could issue local bonds and the commission would build the roads and reimburse the local communities.

Other speakers were Cyrus T. Avery, of the Oklahoma Highway Commission; T. H. Cuthbert, chief engineer of the Missouri Commission; John M. Malang of Joplin, chief of the Bureau of Roads of the Automobile Club of Missouri, and Roy A. Rauschko, representing the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

PARIS FLIGHT ROUTE
INCREASED 150 MILESBertaud Hopes to Avoid Fogs and Icy Wings of Great Circle Course.By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 3.—Confident of the ability of the Wright-Bellanca monoplane, Columbia, to carry a comfortable margin of fuel for her projected New York-Paris flight without anywhere near the limit of her lifting power, Lloyd W. Bertaud, her navigator and copilot, announces a change in the route she will follow across the Atlantic that adds 150 miles to the flight. His purpose is to avoid the fog banks off Newfoundland and the attendant danger of having his plane "sunk" by ice forming on its wings at the same time to keep within sight of the North Atlantic ship lanes.

Giles Chester Stedman, navigator of the Leviathan, who assisted Bertaud with his charts in laying out the new course, told the tyke the route decided upon would carry the Columbia within sight of a ship every 50 miles. This would increase the chances of rescue if the plane is forced down, besides greatly enhancing the chances of radio communication from the plane if no trouble befalls her on the flight.

One disadvantage is that the plane will strike out to sea almost immediately after take-off, instead of staying within sight of land for the first 1200 miles, as the world in following the shorter Great Circle course to Paris. Under present plans the Wright-Bellanca will fly almost due east after she leaves Roosevelt Field, L. I., striking out over the ocean from Shinnecock Bay and crossing Nantucket Shoals.

The start will be made, if possible, at 4 a. m. Eastern standard time, and the first sextant shot to determine the plane's position will be made 700 to 900 miles later if the sky is not overcast. Bertaud hopes to strike the coast of France between Calais and Brest, picking up the London-Paris airway beacon and following them to Le Bourget flying field.

Weather reports indicate conditions will be unfavorable over the Atlantic for several days. Preparations of the planes continue in the hangar at Curtiss Field and late yesterday Clarence D. Chamberlin, who will fly with Bertaud, took the ship up for further fuel consumption and speed tests.

PRO-LEAGUERS OF NEW YORK
FAVOR BRIAND'S AMITY PLANResolution Urges U. S. Government to Enter Agreement for Peaceful Settlements.By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 3.—The New York Branch of the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association passed a resolution last night, asking the Government to accept the offer of French Foreign Minister to enter into an agreement to submit to peaceful settlement any controversy that may arise between France and the United States.

Prof. James T. Shotwell of Columbia University, recently returned to America after serving as first occupant of the Carnegie chair of international relations in Berlin, said the offer of France places upon the United States a responsibility to world peace more definite than the debates concerning the League of Nations or the World Court.

The offer, which was made by Foreign Minister Briand on April 6, presents, according to the resolution, a practical way to extend the work begun at Locarno.

BASEBALL MAGNATE'S WIDOW
WILL TAKE CHARGE OF CLUB

Mrs. Otto Borchert to Take Husband's Place in Control of Milwaukee Brewers.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 3.—Mrs. Otto Borchert, widow of the late owner of the Milwaukee club of the American Association, has become the fourth woman to become a baseball magnate in America and the second woman to inherit the Milwaukee Brewers. Mrs. Charles Havner fell heir to the stock at the death of her husband 15 years ago.

Mrs. Borchert made known her decision to carry on the affairs of the club, yesterday, thus taking rank with Mrs. James S. Dunn of Chicago, present owner of the majority stock of the Cleveland club of the American League, and Mrs. Helen H. Britton, who at one time owned the St. Louis Cardinals.

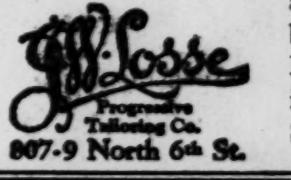

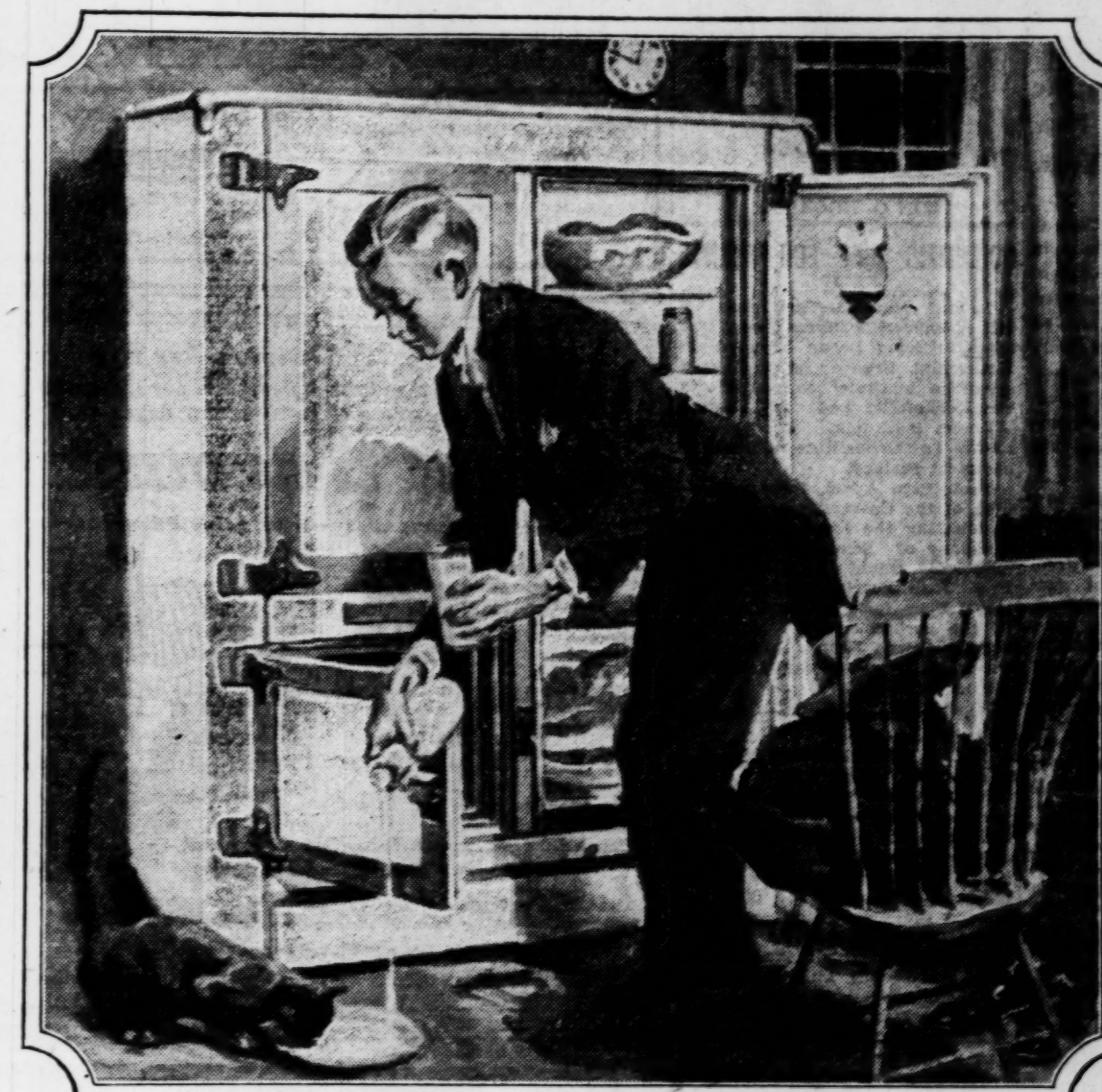

Mrs. Borchert intends to retain ownership of the Milwaukee team and be guided in its direction by Henry J. Killilea, a Milwaukee attorney, who, with Ban Johnson and Charles A. Comiskey, organized the American League. The Milwaukee club has an approximate value of $300,000.

VISITS TWIN BROTHER AT 73

Children Unable to Distinguish Between "Uncle" and "Father."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., May 3.—Calloway Crouse, 73 years old, recently entertained his twin brother, Joshua Crouse of Wagoner, Okla. The Crouse twins are alike at 73 that their children sometimes become uncertain as to which is "father" and which is "uncle." They were born in North Carolina in 1854, and came to Arkansas in early manhood, their father settling near Hiwasse.

Calloway Crouse lives two miles south of Hiwasse, owning a 200-acre stock and grain farm in the rich Spavinaw Valley. Joshua is a stone mason at Wagoner, where he has lived for many years.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

LON O. HOCKER
CHOSSEN HEAD OF
BAR ASSOCIATION

Defeats Jesse W. Barrett, Forrest C. Donnell and W. R. Gilbert on the Second Ballot.

NATIONAL BODY IS INVITED TO ST. LOUIS

It Is Asked to Hold Sessions Here During the Dedication of New Courthouse Next Year.

The St. Louis Bar Association, at its annual meeting last night, in the St. Louis University Law School elected Lon O. Hocker president for the ensuing year. He defeated William R. Gilbert, Jesse W. Barrett, former Attorney-General, and Forrest C. Donnell. It was necessary to take two ballots to complete the choice. There were 265 members present.

Hocker is a member of the law firm of Jones, Hocker, Sullivan & Angert and has been a practicing lawyer in this city for more than 25 years. The final ballot follows: Hocker, 143 votes; Gilbert, 35; Barrett, 22 and Donnell, 6.

The retiring president, Ernest A. Green, called for Hocker to come forward and take the chair but it was announced he was not present, so Green turned the chair over to Donnell, who, in the meantime, with Gilbert and Green, had been elected a vice president of the association. James J. Seeley was re-elected secretary without opposition.

Edward A. Ferrenbach treasurer, defeating in a close race John J. Nangle, who has been treasurer two years. Before the balloting Nangle announced he did not desire re-election. Fred L. English was elected to the executive committee and Sam H. Liberman, Douglas Jones and W. D. Chapman were chosen for the admissions committee.

Political Customs Opposed.

For years it has been the custom of the Bar Association to elect as president a Democrat and a Republican in alternate years. This custom was opposed last night by Jacob M. Lashly, who said he did not think a man's politics should be a qualification for holding office.

Charles M. Hay said that as a Democrat he was in favor of the custom because he felt assured that under it somewhere in St. Louis a Democrat could be elected to office. He said he thought it would be a good thing to extend the practice to local political offices. Green, the retiring president, is a Democrat, and Hocker is a Republican.

President Green announced that an invitation had been extended to the Missouri Bar Association to hold its annual meeting in this city next autumn and said that the American Bar Association had been invited to meet here in 1928 on the occasion of the dedication of the new Courthouse. The New Courthouse Committee, of which Arthur E. Kammerer is chairman, reported that the building would be virtually completed by Sept. 15, 1928, and ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1929, according to information received from President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service.

Report of Legislative Service.

Oliver T. Remmer, chairman of the Legislative Committee, made a report of the passage of three of five laws recommended by the Bar Association at the last Legislature. The others, he said, were lost on the congested calendar, including a bill for additional Circuit Judges here.

The Committee on Admissions, through its chairman, Thomas F. McDonald, recommended that 25 petitioners for membership in the association be accepted, and the report was adopted. Among the new members is Circuit Judge George E. Mix, who resigned from the association more than five years ago.

Before the meeting adjourned George H. Moore, chairman of the Committee on Memorials, reported the names of members who had died since the last annual meeting. At his suggestion the audience stood in silence as he called the names, as follows: Willard L. Sturdevant, W. Christy Bryan, Dorsey A. Jamison, William S. Wittler, Frederick Vierling, John F. Lee, Charles Claffin Allen, Richard L. Goode, William T. Rutherford and Walter N. Fisher.

Previous to the Bar Association meeting the annual meeting of the Washington University Law School Alumni was held. Daniel N. Kirby was elected president; Montague Lyon Jr. and James M. Douglas, vice presidents; W. W. Crowder, treasurer, and Robert B. Terry, secretary. William Schaubeng, Daniel Bartlett and Circuit Judge Frey were elected members of the Executive Committee.

24 KNOWN TO BE DEAD IN MINE EXPLOSION

Rescue Workers at Everettville, W. Va., Find 6 Bodies in Search for 71 Men.

By the Associated Press.
FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 3.—Six more were added to the death list at Everettville mine today when rescuers, searching for 77 entombed men, came upon the body of miners in the main drift, some 3000 feet back in the blast-swept tunnels. This brought the known dead to 24.

Led by Robert Lambie, chief of the West Virginia Mining Department and George McCaughan, chief of the United States Bureau of Mines.

fresh rescuers went into the workings today to review the progress made during the night in the fight against fire and gas. While the rescuers had little to say, it was the general belief that they would conquer the gas during the day, and would reach the point where the 70 missing men will be found before nightfall.

A fleet of ambulances, manned by physicians and nurses, was held at the mouth of the mine ready for the arrival of the hospital ship, which live after being trapped in the workings since an explosion Saturday. A temporary morgue in a tent also is in readiness.

Helmeted rescue men, fighting their way through the gas-filled tunnels, found the six victims, members of three motor crews, about 4000 feet back in the mine. The bodies were to be brought to the surface late in the day.

After a thorough investigation of the explosion-swept workings, Robert Lambie, chief of the West Virginia Mining Department, practically abandoned hope for the entombed men. "It looks like there is no chance for them to have escaped," he said.

A body, recovered this morning, was believed to be that of Harvey McKay, a miner, and brother of the Superintendent of the mine. Rescuers believe that the miners will be found in scattered groups.

LAMONT ADVISES CAUTION IN MAKING LOANS ABROAD

New York Banker Tells Business Men Rush to Float European Credits
Tends to Insecurity.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Warning investors against indiscriminate lending and borrowing, Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., characterized world credit conditions as increasingly hopeful. He spoke last night at a dinner of the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Reported competition "on almost a violent scale" by American bankers to obtain loans in foreign money markets "tends to insecurity and unsound practice," said Lamont. He commended the policy of President Coolidge toward Mexico, taking a hopeful view of the situation, and said that the Dawes plan seemed to have led Europe "pretty well out of the woods."

American business, as a result of Europe's inevitable regeneration, can soon expect formidable competition from overseas, Lamont said.

His view was shared by Roy D. Chapin, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Another speaker, who asked if American industries could not combine their efforts with European and other manufacturing countries to increase world consumption legitimately.

Lamont Urges Caution.

"From the point of view of the American investor," said Lamont, "it is obviously necessary to scan the situation with increasing circumspection."

"I have in mind the reports that I have received, heard of American bankers and firms competing on almost violent scale for the purpose of obtaining loans in various foreign money markets overseas. Naturally it is a tempting thing for certain of the European Governments to find a horde of American bankers sitting on their doorsteps offering them money. It is rather demoralizing for municipalities and corporations in the same countries to have money pressed upon them."

"That sort of competition tends to insecurity and unsound practice. The American investor is an intelligent individual and can be relied upon to discriminate. Yet in the first instance such discrimination surely is the province of the bank which is going to be more than that of the investor who sells them."

"I may be accused of special pleading in uttering this warning. Yet a warning needs to be given against indiscriminate lending and indiscriminate borrowing, and in this I think my banking friends generally will cordially agree."

Coolidge Speaks Tonight.
The United States Chamber of Commerce will hold a joint meeting tonight with the Pan-American Commercial Congress. President Coolidge will speak at 9 p. m. after the dinner, 8 p. m. central time. His address will be broadcast by about 30 stations, including KSD, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The nominees for director of the Chamber of Commerce include William Candler, Atlanta; J. G. Leigh, Little Rock, Ark.; E. T. Meredith, Des Moines; Charles W. Lonsdale, Kansas City, and John G. Lonsdale, St. Louis.

GIRL ABANDONED BABY AFTER LEAVING NOTE ON FEEDING

A girl, about 17 years old, yesterday deserted a 3-week-old baby girl in a rooming house at 2810 North Ninth street, after writing a note containing detailed instructions about the baby's care and leaving it in the room. The baby was taken to City Hospital, where physicians said it was suffering from malnutrition.

The girl called at the rooming house early yesterday afternoon and paid $2 for a week's rent in advance to the rooming house proprietor, Mrs. Michael Shannon. She told Mrs. Shannon her husband was at work and would arrive later. Some time during the afternoon the girl departed.

Mrs. Shannon went to the room the girl rented at 9 p. m., because of the incessant crying of the baby. She found the note pinned to the baby's clothing. It was headed "What to do for the baby," and contained the following instructions: "Wash baby daily, give it bottle containing half milk and half water, sweetened with sugar, when it cries, wash eyes with diluted solution of boric acid." It was signed by "The Baby's Mother."

LIPREADING DEMONSTRATED
BY DEAF AT BRIDGE TABLE

Persons hard of hearing played bridge and chatted with each other in normal voices yesterday at a lip-reading demonstration given at the League for the Hard of Hearing, 2817 Olive street, in connection with the five-day program for National Hearing Week. Another demonstration will be given today at the South Side Day Nursery, 1621 South Tenth street, under auspices of the Municipal Nurses.

Dr. Augustus G. Pohlmeyer, professor at St. Louis University, will speak tonight at league headquarters on the anatomy of the ear. Other programs have been arranged for tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

SAYS SHE WRITES
PLAYS DICTATED
BY "ASTRAL GUIDE"

French Woman Composes One Act of 60 Pages in Hour Under Observation.

Copyright 1927 by the Press and Pulitzer Publishers, Inc., New York World.

PARIS, May 3.—Like Augustine Lessage, the miner who became a painter because he heard "voices from beyond," Mme. Susanne Mandres, it is said, has taken up writing at the dictation of her "astral guide." A writer in the Petit Journal says that in his presence Mme. Mandres composed the first act of a play in an hour, writing 60 sheets of 24 lines each. Dramatically, he says, it was creditable, with sparkling dialogue and original plot.

Mme. Mandres says she first felt the mysterious force when on a theatrical tour, her right arm contracting weirdly and her hand becoming agitated, tracing letters in the air. She seized a sheet of paper and though her mind was a blank, she found she had written "I shall be ready to communicate with the living." Write."

Mme. Mandres wrote and has produced several three-act plays, articles, drafts of lectures and several philosophical and scientific treatises. She says she does not think while writing and could not repeat from memory anything she has set down.

NOEL BROTHERS FREED
OF BARRATRY ON APPEAL

Decision by Presiding Judge Daines Upholds Lower Court's Action on Demurrer

The St. Louis Court of Appeals, in a decision written by Presiding Judge Daines, affirmed today the action of Circuit Judge Hays of Hannibal, Mo., in sustaining a demurrer by Charles P. and Wilson Noell, brothers and attorneys of St. Louis, to a charge of common barratry against them. The appellate tribunal held that Judge Hays was right in upholding the contention that the information failed to set out sufficiently the nature of the charge.

Stirring up quarrels, strife, suits and controversies was the essence of the information. Judge Daines pointed out that the statement of the case before the court is a misnomer dating from the days of witchcraft, so that nature of the alleged offense must be detailed in an information. He delved into a volume printed in old-style English to examine an English case of 1787 in reaching his decision.

The barratry charge against the Noells was instituted several months after a charge of conspiracy to split fees was dismissed. Both cases followed the handling of damage suits against the Burlington Railroad by the Noells. The appellate decision relieves them of the barratry charge.

CITY ORDERS COST SURVEY
FOR BRIDGE APPROACH WORK

A survey, to determine the cost of the southern approach of the Municipal Bridge, will be made at once under the direction of C. E. Goss, consulting engineer for the city, under authorization of a special committee of the Board of Public Service.

On the recommendation of President Kinsey, the Board authorized the appointment of Smith to conduct the survey. He receives $4000 a year from the city for his services as consultant, and Kinsey said he would make no additional charge for this work, but that salaries and expenses of his assistants engaged in the work would be paid. The Board of Estimates and Apportionment has approved a $25,000 item in the budget for the cost of the survey.

The 1923 bond issue contained an item of $1,500,000 for the southern approach. As told recently, August A. Busch, head of the Manufacturers' Railway, has offered to advance to the city any sum needed above $1,500,000 for the southern approach, to be returned to him later in the remittance of rentals on the use of the bridge.

Princess Canaefuene Sends Histories Signed by Former President Grant.

Two volumes of history autographed by Gen. U. S. Grant and Princess Canaefuene, his granddaughter, have been presented by the princess for disposal at the Country Carnival, which will be held at Grant's Farm May 12 for the benefit of the St. Louis University Charity Hospital.

The farm, now the estate of August A. Busch, is on Gravols Road. Among the attractions that are included in the admission free to the carnival will be a trip through the log cabin which Grant built as his residence in his early manhood.

PIRATES NEED THIRD PITCHER TO WIN FLAG, FOSTER WRITES

CARDS HAVE ADVANTAGE ON THE SLAB

Meadows and Kremer Stand Out Above Other Pittsburgh Hurters and Donie Bush Must Strengthen Staff to Give St. Louis a Fight.

By John B. Foster.
Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 3.—As far as the baseball season has progressed to date, Ray Kremer and Lee Meadows of the Pirates have shown their superior skill over other members of the team, as they did last year.

Vic Aldridge seemed to have worked himself into fine condition in California and an unusually good year appeared to have dawned for him, but his arm kinked and by the time he had worked himself back into trim he was not keyed up as well as he was before the season opened.

The Pirates need a third winning pitcher mighty badly. They have been in that sort of predicament for the last two or three years, so Bear Dreyfuss, the Pittsburgh owner, even if it is to Donie Bush, the Pirates' new leader.

Bearney Will Hear About It.

Bush is a go-getter. If he makes up his mind that the Pittsburgh team lacks pitching strength to win a pennant, Dreyfuss won't have to wait long to hear the news. Maybe Donie has already called around and told him about it. But Bush would be satisfied with calling him in. He will be nosing around for a pitcher.

When Brooklyn let the St. Louis Cards have Bob McGraw in exchange for D'Arcy Flowers, it is a safe bet that Donie Bush wished he had something to trade, providing, of course, he had heard what Brooklyn was up to.

Johnny Morrison is a Pirate pitcher with a curve ball that would reduce geometry to a simple science if he could use it. But Johnny has a mixed groceries arm, as it were, and can't seem to get going right.

Staff Is Not Sound.

With Aldridge having an arm that is temperamental and Morrison of that type, the Pirates can't be too sound in their pitching department. That has been called their probable greatest handicap this season, but if the weakness has begun to assert itself thus early, Pittsburgh has had ample warning to make the management go forth and get pitchers if the pennant is to be won by the excellent young batters and fielders who comprise the team.

Cards Have the Edge.

The New York Giants have pitching that is little better than that of Pittsburgh, as was much in evidence in yesterday's game when Brooklyn mauled six Giant hurlers for 13 hits and 10 runs. It would appear that the fight between the Giants and the Pirates should have a certain amount of even balance all the season.

The pitchers of the St. Louis Cards, except Herman Bell, have been doing about as well as any of the pitchers in the National League. If the Cards are a little less resourceful on some days, good pitching is sure to help them and to bring their balance up to that of New York and Pittsburgh. It is there now in many respects—including the fact that the Cards have edged into first place today as a result of New York's defeat by Brooklyn.

The big flop in pitching in the National League is in the Cincinnati club which has been manhandled all around and quite naturally shows it.

Genuine "Soldier of Fortune" Is Uncovered in Local Fight Circles

Career Started in the Royal Flying Corps When He Was Only 16 Years of Age.

By L. A. McMaster.

Some men go to war and escape: some go to sea and have harrowing adventures peculiar to maritime pursuits without suffering hurts, and some go into industry and see the horrors of accidents, some unscathed.

Seldom does one man live through the drab side of a variety of risky pursuits. But Reggie Wood, St. Louis amateur boxer, who is on tonight's card at the Motorbus Club's boxing show, comes close to having that distinction.

And the facts in his case have become known over a comparatively trivial matter. Trivial except to Reggie himself.

When Wood was in Boston early last week participating in the national amateur championships, press dispatches carried references to "Wood of St. Louis, 35 years old, the oldest boxer in the tournament."

Wherefore Wood's story came out. He didn't object so much to the press report that he lost his bout on a technical knockout, because only two rounds of the scheduled three saw him in the ring. He believes, however, that the officials were unkind to him. His bit his tongue in the second round and was not permitted to continue.

But that "25 years old" got under his skin. It was embarrassing. Friends kidded him about it.

And for good reason. He has a certificate showing he was born in Bristol, England, June 18, 1900. He has observed only 26 birthdays. He is 35 now, but he says he is not 25, he is 35.

Indeed, the experiences he relates might have done much to change his appearance.

Things began to happen to him when he was 16 years old. At that age he ran away on a school vacation and joined the Royal Flying Corps, being listed as "Reginald Wood, boy."

He boxed and became 126-pound champion of his branch of service. At 16 he did not know him out of actual fighting.

Near the close of the war, in 1918, when flying in France, he was in a crash, caused by a gas attack, from which he emerged severely injured. His left shinbone was driven up through his knee cap and it took an extensive amount of surgery and grafting of cartilage to make that leg useful again. Wood declares it is as good as ever.

The war done, Wood's roving spirit took him to sea. Where Reggie went, adventure followed. In 1921, he was in a ship fire off Capetown, South Africa, but escaped unscathed.

The United States sounded good to this roamer, so he came to this country in 1923. On the way over, he interested the ship's officers in holding some athletic games, and winning all the events—boxing, running and golf—was presented with a gold medal by the steamship company.

He went to work in the Pennsylvania mines, and once again disaster was near. In the mine where he was working in 1924, there was an explosion that resulted in 25 miners being killed. But Wood was not among the dead.

So Reggie Wood looks old beyond his years. But he is a bear.

He is a bear in the ring, too.

PREAKNESS
HOPE RUNS
A GOOD RACE

After Meeting Interference

Bradley Horse Recovers and Wins by a Length and a Half.

Old Stuff.

FOR quick recoveries, leave it to Jimmy Londos, heavyweight wrestler. Jimmy can get well quicker than a slow boy when the circus comes to town.Last week Londos and Promoter Tom Parks called off a match scheduled for Tuesday, between Jimmy Londos and a wrestler known in this vicinity as Paul Jones.Jimmy's ankle was sprained, it was explained.But on the very next night, Friday, Londos wrestled Dick Davis in Philadelphia and defeated him!Indicating that possibly it was Londos' desire to meet Jones that was so badly sprained, not Jim's at a start in the Kentucky Derby.

Bradley is optimistic that Bo and Buddy Bauer that will carry his colors in the Derby will render a good account of themselves.He holds Buddy Bauer in higher regard than he does the Louisiana Derby winner.Bewithus qualified handsomely for the Preakness Stake by defeating Senator J. N. Camden's

Noted F. J. Kelley's Bonaire, Leicester Farm's General Haldeman and his stable companion, Boo.All of the colts are eligible for the Kentucky Derby.

Bewithus Wins Easily.

The winner, making his first appearance under colors of the year, won out at the end of the one mile and a sixteenth by the comfortable margin of one and one-half lengths, and with Jockey L. Craver having a good hold of the son of Black Toney and Dorell. Nor'easter barely out-stayed Bonaire for second after having cut out a fast pace for more than seven furlongs. Bon-aire's was lame at the finish.Bewithus ran into interference from General Haldeman and Bon-aire in the first quarter and a bad pocket into which Craver steered him approaching the far turn.When taken to the outside for the run through the stretch, he closed with an excellent burst of speed and after gaining complete command was taken in hand.

No Three in Last Furlong.

After Nor'easter lost the lead to the winner, he held on stubbornly but was easily given in by Bon-aire as they finished the exciting test.Boo, after being buffeted about in the first furlong, moved up to force Nor'easter after the first quarter and raced strongly to the last furlong before beginning to tire sharply. He was beaten five lengths for third with Gen. Haldeman a distant last. The latter gave a flash of early speed while swerving repeatedly and impeding the course of several of the starters.The successful entry prevailed as an overwhelming choice. Bewithus negotiated the distance in 1:44 3/5, one and four-fifths of a second slower than Leonardo II's track record.The mishap that befell Bonaire probably removed him from the Derby field. His loss is one for the Western brigade as he had raced well and was showing improvement.

Hydromel Sure Starter.

Senator P. N. Camden's Hydromel, which established a new track record on the occasion of his 1927 debut last week furthered his conditioning for the Kentucky Derby by galloping the Derby route of 10 furlongs yesterday morning. Trainer Dandy Stewart ordered Jockey L.
McDermott to keep the chestnut son of Light Brigade and Honey Dew under stout restraint throughout the trial and was thoroughly satisfied when the colt traversed the distance in 2:12 3/5. It was nothing more than a "breeze" and the three-year-old was not at all distressed following the gallop.From a time standpoint the gallop was nothing worthy of elation but the manner in which the horse accomplished it has impressed the holders of these players' contracts.As a consequence the next meeting of the F. I. F. A. to be held at Helsingfors, Finland, June 3-5, will decide whether the U. S. F. A.
shall be permitted to retain membership.

To Meet in St. Louis.

The situation is so serious that President Andrew M. Brown and Robert Manning have been named delegates to attend the meeting in Helsingfors and try and parry the expected blow.The U. S. F. A. national meeting, which this year will be held in Louisville, has been delayed until June in order that the delegates may return and report.America wouldn't have to abandon soccer, if the breach actually occurred, but our international activity would be cut short.

DRIBBLE WILL SURVIVE, PERRY PREDICTS

Opposition to Attempted Rule Change Growing in Two Big College Groups

Eastern Intercollegiate League Announces It Has Not Accepted Proposed Restriction and Big Ten Is Split in Twain on Question.

By Lawrence Perry.

(Copyright, 1927.) NEW YORK, May 3.—What may be regarded as a wrench thrown into the mechanism of the Joint Basketball Rules Committee is the attitude of the executive committee of Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League toward the elimination of the dribble.

It is announced that the League conclusion, in view of all that has been pending, that the dribble is going to remain in basketball in spite of the legislative action of the Rules Committee.

This is significant and also rather curious, representatives of the Eastern organization are members of the Joint Rules Committee and sat in with their colleagues at the meeting which has caused such furor.

Opposition Is Widespread. It is difficult to avoid the rule, which is not by any means certain, Indiana and Purdue will be left in the cold in their state for a poll has shown that coaches of the Indiana conference are overwhelmingly against the new rule.

Inasmuch as every year since the two Indiana colleges have defeated a large proportion of the comers from the midlands, the East and the South, the Hoosiers feel they can pursue their own basketball course regardless.

What the 1000 members of the Indiana High School Athletic Association will do is another matter, and a very important matter, inasmuch as these schools are feeders not only for Indiana, Purdue, Butler and other Hoosier institutions, but for Michigan, Ohio State, Illinois, Northwestern, Chicago and Wisconsin as well.

Finger Pointed at Dr. Meanwell.

Dr. Meanwell, the fiery Wisconsin basketball coach and member of the Joint Rules Committee seems to be regarded in the mid-West, whether rightly or unjustly, as the man who is chiefly responsible for getting the anti-dribble rule through.

In Indiana, the tendency is to ascribe the muzzling of the dribble to Conference politics. At the meeting the last word in the Big Ten has not been said on this subject.

Should the Western Conference decide to abide by the antirule, which is not by any means right back the change and they might not.

While not likely, neither is it altogether unlikely that Wisconsin, so far as the Conference is concerned, may find that she occupies a position of splendid isolation.

So far as the Badgers are concerned, there was talk last fall of a feud between George Little, athletic director, and Director Moore. There was no fact, but a matter of fact, but a little flurry which the official Little easily averted. So current gossip of another feud Little's burning under cover may have no warrant than that attached to the original yarns of a break between the athletic director and basketball coach.

Little Wants Harmony.

One thing, however, is certain. Little does not want Wisconsin to occupy a position of isolation in any respect. All his efforts have been toward the establishment of a friendship and understanding between Wisconsin and other colleagues in the Big Ten.

According to the attitude of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, Whiskey, one of H. P. Whitney's candidates, Whiskey chalked up two victories in as many starts during the Havre de Grace meet, both times easily out running other eligibles.

Further neither distance

nor track conditions appear to bother Whiskey. Wandering Minstrel of the Seagram stable, and H. Teller Archibald's Candy Hog, trailed the Whitney colt in a sprint.

Irregularity Has Marked Performances of Potential Starters in $50,000 Race.

BALTIMORE, May 3.—The Preakness, Pimlico's great spring fixture for 3-year-olds, which has seen the dope upset for the last several years, again is looked upon by turfmen as an open race.

All his efforts have been toward the establishment of a friendship and understanding between Wisconsin and other colleagues in the Big Ten.

According to the attitude of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, Whiskey, one of H. P. Whitney's candidates, Whiskey chalked up two victories in as many starts during the Havre de Grace meet, both times easily out running other eligibles.

Further neither distance

nor track conditions appear to bother Whiskey. Wandering Minstrel of the Seagram stable, and H. Teller Archibald's Candy Hog, trailed the Whitney colt in a five and one-half furlongs dash over a fast track, while in winning the Chesapeake States last Saturday, Whiskey left Sir Harry, another Seagram nominee, Pilot of the Goodstone Stable and A. G. Weston's Jopagan behind over a sloppy mile and a sixteenth.

Wandering Minstrel has placed ahead of Candy Hog at a distance, but a sprint saw the tables turned. Jopagan showed his heels to Rip Rap of the Sage Stable, and Walter M. Jefford's Scapa Flow, at a mile and 70 yards, but ate the dust of other candidates less thought of. This irregularity on the part of potential Preakness starters has been notable throughout the Maryland spring season.

Candidates now on the ground will be culled only with work done today. The Rennert Handicap, scheduled for tomorrow, is expected to bring out some of the eligibles again, however. Whiskey Jock, Sir Harry, Jopagan, Sweeper, and Kentucky II are among those nominated for the $5000 sprint.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain true to the poor, always never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrongs whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Proposed Gas Rates Increase.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In the Post-Dispatch under date of June 9, 1926, appeared an item stating that the St. Louis Coke & Iron Co. plant at Granite City were burning to waste from 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, or approximately one-fourth of the amount of gas used by the entire City of St. Louis. The item further stated that the coke company had offered to pipe its surplus gas, a by-product of its coke and iron operations, to the mains of the Laclede Gas Light Co. for 25 cents a thousand cubic feet. Chairman Munroe of the gas company was reported as saying that the price was 15 cents to 20 cents a thousand cubic feet more than it cost the Laclede to produce its own gas. This would indicate that it costs the Laclede Gas Co. from 15 cents to 20 cents per 1000 cubic feet to produce its gas.

If the item appearing in the Post-Dispatch under date of June 9, 1926, was authentic, which the writer does not doubt, it is not pertinent to inquire why, if their gas costs 15 cents to 20 cents per thousand cubic feet, it is necessary to charge $1 per thousand cubic feet to the small consumer?

The propensity on the part of all public service companies to ask for increases in rates or fares to the public, and the publicity given to same, is an incentive to Socialism, whatever that really is, and a practical invitation to labor unions to take similar steps, as a measure of protection, or retaliation. To the man regularly employed on an unchanging salary basis this almost constant advance in the cost of living leaves him without recourse, making him bitter, complaining and a slave to the agitator, with distrust of all big business. It is a great pity that directors of large corporations so frequently adopt the attitude of "the public be damned."

C. E. B.

Uncle Sam's Real Friends.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In regard to "Patriotic" insinuation that anyone who does not close their eyes to shame in civic matters is a disloyal mongrel and bitter, blindly partisan and is stabbing Uncle Sam in the back, I fear that if we all were of this opinion there would be no Uncle Sam. He owes his very citizenship to the courage of a dissenter. Patrick Henry persistently took exception to English tyranny and transgression of the Bill of Rights, and if these rights are smothered too much there will be another Patrick Henry's today with spine enough to spike the transgression by voting their opinions. This is America and it is our duty as citizens to jealously guard against any imperial gestures which might, if uncensored, gradually drift into monopolistic monarchy.

DAVE McMANUS.

The Crippled Forestry Department.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOUR interest in the progress of forestry in Missouri prompts me to write you that I have today received notice from the secretary of the Board of Agriculture that Gov. Baker has signed the appropriation of $20,000 which the Legislature made, but is not releasing any of it at all so that it can be spent by this department. None of us know whether the Governor will release any part of this money before the end of the biennium, and accordingly, I am advising the two men who have been employed in this department that it will be necessary for them to seek employment elsewhere.

This action comes as a surprise to all of us because only last week I was advised that all of the letters Gov. Baker had received on the subject urged him to sign our appropriation, and that he was going to permit us to spend the entire amount.

FREDERICK DUNLAP,
State Forester,
Columbia, Mo., April 30.

An Apathetic Citizenship.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOUR editorial of Sunday on the latest attempt by Mayor Miller and his Board of Aldermen to raid the special funds set aside by the citizens of St. Louis for their Library, Art Museum and Zoo, indeed rings the note. It is the brazenness of this attempt, the flaunted indifference to public will, that stamps it as being unparalleled.

It is almost absurd that the supposed elected representatives of the people should deliberately seek for a legal loophole through which to evade their very plainly expressed desire. It is not believable that Mr. Miller could make such a move without actually laughing at an apathetic citizenship. And it is a telling point against a community that continues year after year to experiment with one political machine after another when it has been so plainly demonstrated in all other divisions of our government that a balance of power between political parties is necessary if there is to be competition for public approval.

G. V. WILLIAMSON.

GAS RATES AND THE REMEDY.

City Counselor Muench and members of his staff have set out for Jefferson City to combat before the Public Service Commission the Laclede Gas Co.'s thinly disguised request for higher rates.

It is, however, almost useless to hope that the city can defeat the request, or that the Public Service Commission will for any reason refuse to grant it. As the Post-Dispatch has pointed out, the commission tied both itself and the city up when it awarded the company a valuation of $52,000,000. If the company is to earn 7 and perhaps 8 per cent upon that valuation, as it must be permitted to do under the law, as now interpreted, then there will be other rate increases up to what the traffic will bear. That is what public utilities are doing all over the country, and promise or no promise it is what the Laclede Gas Company will do.

The remedy, if there is one, lies beyond the commission. After all, it had at the time the Laclede valuation was made the impressive authority of the United States Supreme Court for valuing such property at the cost of reproduction. It had not had the benefit of either the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway case that the basis of valuation cannot be anything more than prudent investment, or the ringing defiance of the Massachusetts commission to the public utilities of that state and the United States Supreme Court as well. The Missouri commission was faced by a very great problem at a time when there were the best possible precedents for what it did. The truth is that the country had not realized what the consequence of such a dictum as that laid down by the United States Supreme Court in such cases as those of the Missouri Bell Telephone Company and the Indianapolis Water Company would be. That realization came almost like the eruption of Mt. Pelee.

What Missouri must do is to join the rest of the country in such protests against the present interpretation of the law as promise a greater degree of justice. With all respect to the opinion of the United States Supreme Court, the principle of reproduction cost is wrong. It is wrong that the people of St. Louis should be compelled to pay earnings upon a valuation of $52,000,000 for a gas property which was awarded a few years ago for $40,000,000. The country cannot value the public utilities at what it would cost to rebuild them. To do so would be to build upon a false foundation a structure which could not stand. Imagine what freight rates upon the railroads, already an insupportable burden to farmers, would become if the railroads were valued at what it would cost to replace them! If the United States Supreme Court will not reverse itself upon this subject, which is unlikely, the sole hope of the country is that it can, upon the theory that the utilities enjoy due process in the states, be proved not to have jurisdiction.

There will be differences of opinion with regard to the prizes in letters. Readers form their own opinions with regard to the outstanding works of history, biography, fiction and drama. But the works selected by the committee within the scope defined for the selections will at least have the respect of the public. They will recognize the awards as the result of careful and considered judgment. That for the best drama produced in New York, combining the standards of good morals, good taste, and good manners, was awarded to Paul Green for "In Abraham's Bosom." That for the best contribution to the history of the United States was awarded to Samuel Flagg Bemis' "Pinckney's Treaty." Emory Holloway received the award for the best biography, for his "Whitman; An Interpretation in Narrative." Lenore Speyer was awarded the prize for the best volume of verse—her "Fiddler's Farewell."

The selection of the best work of the year is a difficult task. The awards are the opinions of a jury. But they are carefully formed opinions, worthy of consideration and accord distinctive honor to the winners. The prizes are stimulating to all workers in journalism and literature.

A CHANCE FOR LAW ENFORCERS.

The three chief cities of Missouri are like other places in having a large element of persons who are possessed of a passion for what they call law enforcement. But in no one of these cities, in St. Louis least of all, are they making a very favorable impression on the average citizen. Usually they want only to enforce some particular intolerant law they like.

There is, to be sure, a course which the law enforcers might adopt which would disabuse the public's mind of this notion. They might turn their efforts to enforcing other laws than those with which they are now obsessed.

Now, there is at least one part of the law of Missouri which is very much in need of enforcement. It is Section 7, Article IV, of the Missouri Constitution, which directs the Legislature to reapportion representation after each national census, and which has been defied by every session since the census of 1910. As a result of this defiance, St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph are denied the representation to which they are entitled in the Legislature, and are hence compelled to submit to interference from the State Government in matters of purely local concern.

Here is an excellent chance for our law enforcement enthusiasts to show whether they are for law enforcement or just for prohibition. They will, to be sure, not do anything about it, and will so prove that they are just for prohibition. They will not do anything about it because they know that reapportionment in Missouri might add to the Legislature a few delegates who are opposed to bone dryness.

So the law enforcement fanatics will continue to get nothing but horse laughs in the three chief cities of Missouri.

A NATION OF LIARS.

Federal Judge Meekins of North Carolina, who has handled more than 2000 violations of the liquor laws and made himself a terror to those who transgress, says prohibition is making us a nation of liars. Almost everybody who comes into his court, from no matter what station, lies on this vexing subject with such ease and abandon that the Judge, who has been haled by the drys as a model of his kind, wants the law changed and the Government made the purveyor of liquor.

No serious attention, in our opinion, will be paid to such a recommendation. If we are a nation of liars, we were a nation of liars when we said we wanted prohibition. That has been abundantly proved. The people who voted for it in Congress were lying, and the legislators who ratified it were lying.

It is not often that we take up arms in defense of prohibition, but this is too flagrantly unjust for human forbearance. It was lying that gave us prohibition and lying has supported it. Wayne B. Wheeler alone has put out more fairy tales in its behalf than were written by Grimm. Aesop as a romancer was feeble beside "Pussyfoot" Johnson. People like former Congressman Upshaw have filled the country with more charming make-believe than there is in the operas of Wagner. Imagery was never elevated in any age, not excepting the Greeks, to the ecstatic heights of Senator Borah's belief that prohibition will succeed in another generation. The delightful phantasies of Rip Van Winkle are nothing to the solemn drollery of the root-beer heafachy at Westerville, O., that prohibition is gaining. Scheherezade in a thousand and one nights fell far short of the romanticism of such female sodapoppers as our own Almee Semple McPherson any night in the week.

Prohibition has not made us a nation of liars. It was a nation of liars that made prohibition.

THE PULITZER PRIZES.

John T. Rogers of the Post-Dispatch staff, who received the Pulitzer prize for the best example of a reporter's work during the past year, in a brief interview describes himself as a reporter and nothing else. "I do everything," he said, "from chasing pictures to covering gang wars."

All of these are within the scope of a reporter's job. But if he covers his assignments with fidelity, industry, accuracy and thoroughness he is a valuable contributor to the work of a newspaper. He does his part in the prime function of a newspaper in getting all the news and presenting it accurately, intelligently and clearly. This is public service. But sometimes there come to a reporter opportunities to do special public service. He is called upon to gather the facts about corruption in public life, or the abuse of official power. He undertakes a task which requires exceptional energy and persistence, courage and intelligence. It was that sort of task which Mr. Rogers undertook when the Post-Dispatch exposed the misconduct and the abuses of official power on the part of Judge English of the Eastern Illinois Judicial District, which resulted in the impeachment and resignation of Judge English. Mr. Rogers did his work thoroughly and effectively. He deserved the award.

On a plane with the Post-Dispatch's successful fight for the impeachment of Judge English was the courageous and effective fight of the Canton Daily News of Canton, O., for the purification of municipal politics and the breaking of the collusive alliance between the city authorities and the criminal element. In that fight the editor of the newspaper, Don R. Mellett, made the supreme sacrifice to public duty. He was assassinated. The award was a well-deserved recognition of newspaper service.

There is no question of the importance of the public service rendered by Lauriston Bullard of the Boston Herald in writing and printing the editorial entitled "We Submit" on the Sacco-Vanzetti case in October of last year. It was a forceful editorial, directing attention to what he believed to be a failure of justice in the case of these two men, convicted of murder.

Nelson Harding of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle was awarded the cartoon prize for his cartoon entitled "Toppling the Idol."

There will be differences of opinion with regard to the prizes in letters. Readers form their own opinions with regard to the outstanding works of history, biography, fiction and drama. GREAT DANES AND GREYHOUNDS.

Fashion has played all manner of tricks with the female anatomy. It has abolished ears and hips. It has played fast and loose with the waist line, moving it up and down so often that few women remember where it was originally. But the most distressing decree of fashion is one that is current now, namely, that in order to be beautiful a woman must weigh not over 112 pounds and must have a slim and boyish nose.

Instead of rebelling at this dreadful edict, women have done their best to comply, and the agonizing results are known in every household. We know the only thing to comfort women who have failed so far to approximate fashionable dimensions is another decree of fashion recognizing curves and avoirdupois. However, we quote the following from Dr. Davenport's article in the magazine section of Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

The people of Canada will approve of this vote. They will be glad to know that the Government of Canada intends erecting a memorial to these men.

Many of the "citizens and residents of the United States" who joined the Canadian forces were Canadian or the sons of Canadians, who had gone to the United States. But a very large number of Americans, born and bred in the United States, enlisted in the Canadian Army.

To list or define the reasons for their enlistment would not be possible. Some saw in it a great adventure in which they wished to share. Some enlisted for the sheer love of the fight, with all its dangers. Probably the majority of them enlisted for these reasons. Many enlisted with Canadian troops because they believed in the Allies' cause and others joined in the spirit of avenging, so far as they were able, the wrongs done to their countrymen and the insults heaped upon their country by the acts of the enemy.

The enlistment was of greater value than that of immigrants to the Canadian Army. It proved the unity of the Canadian and American thoughts regarding the war. It was a part of that ultimate union of British and American strength that, to the people of this country, always seemed bound to come.

The people of Canada will delight to honor these American citizens who as companions of their own sons and brothers gave their lives in the common cause. The memory to be erected should be of beauty and a dignity in keeping with the nobility and unselfishness of their sacrifice. It should be placed on Parliament Hill which gave them the most official salute before they departed from Canada upon their glorious mission, to stand there amidst other memorials of this country's history and achievements, marking Canada's lasting appreciation of their supreme offering in the cause of humanity.

From the Detroit News.

We find ourselves unable to follow President Coolidge in the assumption that our foreign policy is correct. In Washington, is it necessary to correct American policy, and not open to criticism on the ground that such criticism is anti-American and pro-foreign. Mistakes in foreign policy have been made by previous administrations, and we lack evidence that Secretary Kellogg is omniscient.

President Coolidge spoke of the duty of the press of giving true reports to the people of the actions of public officials. He said this to a press association whose representative refused to accept from an official of the State Department a hint to spread all over this country a report that Mexico is not to be aroused. Can a woman's pie in the month of May be negative?

Cold water tinting is easy, and results are perfect when you start with dyes. Dye tints are tame; they don't streak. And the more the tints streak when bought. And if you want the tint to stay, just use boiling water instead of cold.

FRANCE RECALLS FLYER WHO STARTED ACROSS ATLANTIC

Orders Departure From West Africa Prevented Because Saint-Roman Plane Is Altered.

PARIS, May 8.—The aeronautic department of the Ministry of Commerce has decided to forbid continuation of the France-to-Buenos Aires flight of Capt. Saint-Roman, last reported to have arrived at St. Louis, Senegal, his hoping off point for Pernambuco, Brazil.

The department has ordered the authorities of French West Africa to prevent his departure. The plane used by Capt. Saint-Roman, the department stated, no longer fulfills the certificate of navigability maintained by France. A statement issued said that the department considered it is duty to oppose an attempt by a French aviator to cross the Atlantic in a plane incapable of floating in case of a forced landing on the sea.

Capt. Saint-Roman left Marseilles on April 16 and arrived at Casablanca the same day. An accident to his propeller and a leak in his gas tank delayed his hop-off until the 27th, when he started for Dakar, Senegal, but was forced to return to Casablanca. On April 30 he started for Port Etienne, but landed at Agadir, where he planned to make adjustments on his wireless apparatus.

The decision of the department was based on a report made to it that the aviator and his companions had so transformed their hydro-plane, by removing its floats, that it no longer conformed with the conditions imposed by the department when it gave its support to the flight.

TWO ALLEGED SLAYERS OF HOWARD BLAIR ON TRIAL

John Vollman and William Brown Were Traced by Broken Glass of Auto Window.

Selection of a jury for the murder trial of John Vollman and William Brown, who were apprehended through piece of glass found near the body of Howard Blair at Gravels Creek bridge on Green Park road Feb. 7, began today in Circuit Judge Wurdeiman's court in Clinton.

Deputy Sheriff Fassier, investigating the shooting, found a service car with a broken window in which the glass fragment fitted. The driver admitted driving Vollman, Brown and Blair to the bridge, hearing shots, and bringing Brown and Vollman back alone.

Vollman, 26 years old, is a former bartender for "Jellyroy's" Hogan, and Brown, 29, resided at 2201 South Broadway, within two blocks of Hogan's former "soft drink parlor." Vollman was tried a year ago at Clayton for murder of Patrolman Rudolph Hartung. He claimed self-defense, the jury disagreed, and the charge later was dismissed. Blair was 27, a shipping clerk out of work, and resided at 6208 Idaho avenue.

WORLD WHEAT POOL TO BE ATTEMPTED IN KANSAS CITY

Three Hundred Delegates From Many Countries Will Attend Convention This Week.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 8.—An attempt to form a world wide co-operative organization for marketing wheat will be made at the Second International Wheat Pool Conference here May 5, 6 and 7. Three hundred delegates from Canada, Australia, Argentina, Russia, India and the United States are expected.

W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, will address the wheat growers, although he is not expected to endorse any marketing plan. The Kansas Co-operative Wheat Marketing Association and the Manitoba (Canada) wheat pool, two of the largest grain co-operatives in the world, have been working on plans for such a pool. The leaders think that a world wide organization of producers would bring about a more efficient marketing of wheat and prevent sudden and disastrous fluctuations in price.

Delegates attending the meeting control about 800,000,000 bushels of the annual production.

Boys 12 and 14 Years Old Lose Lives in Creek Near Marmaduke, Ark.

PARAGOULD, Ark., May 8.—After saving a younger brother from drowning, two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Rogers were drowned in Mack Creek, north of Marmaduke. The Rogers are tenants of a farm north of Marmaduke.

According to reports reaching Paragould, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers fell into the water while the youths were playing along the bank of the creek near their home. A 12-year-old son jumped into the water and saved his brother but became strangled and was unable to save himself from the current. Another brother, Cloyle Rogers, 14, observing the first two boys in the water, jumped into the creek to save him. The latter apparently grabbed him by the neck and both were pulled under and drowned. The bodies were recovered.

Would a 5-Dress Wardrobe
meet all your demands?

ELSIE DE WOLFE, famed on two continents for her success as a decorator and her charm as a society leader, is acclaimed everywhere as one of the best dressed women of the day.

Yet her wardrobe consists of exactly five dresses!

How does she do it? Ah! it's all in the knowing how—and in this article Miss de Wolfe tells you the secret.

Not only does she describe in detail the five lovely costumes that carry her so triumphantly through every business and social occasion, she also shows you how you may have an equally effective wardrobe so easily and inexpensively. Read "My Five-Dress Wardrobe Meets All Demands", by Elsie de Wolfe, in the May issue of The Ladies' Home Journal, now on sale, ten cents.

FROM THE SLUMS, TO THE FOLLIES, TO GRAND OPERA
Mary Lewis, the charming star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, traces her meteoric career.

Dancing gleefully with her little "shanty Irish" playmates in the slums of Dallas . . .

singing sedately in the Methodist choir in Little Rock . . . dazzlingly radiant on the stage of the Follies . . . taking her triumphant curtain calls at the Metropolitan Opera House—here's romance and the taste of life itself; the inspiration of brave youth; and the undying thrill of victory!

Mary Lewis' own story, "From the Slums, to the Follies, to Grand Opera"—with every line pulsing to the throb of her vivid personality—begins in the May issue of The Ladies' Home Journal, now on sale, ten cents.

[Concerning the Meaning of Labels]

There's an old adage which says "Seeing is believing." Maybe that was true when Grandfather was an infant—but it certainly isn't true today. Why? Because there are too many brands of malt on the market. There's this kind, that kind and the other kind. They all have fancy labels too. But it's not a label you want—it's something to back up the label. And now you're talking about the one malt which stands in a class by itself—Puritan Malt: the choicest No. 1 barley plus genuine Imported Bohemian Hop flavor equals Richness, Strength and Flavor. Moral: Don't be misled by a label.

SPECIAL TAX FOR ART MUSEUM ONCE
HELD TO BE VALID

instances double what it has cost the city to secure them.

The educational program of the museum has been established on a very broad basis, making lectures and studies in many fields of art a part of the museum's program. Moreover, special exhibitions are brought here from all parts of the country and from Europe, thus affording our citizens an opportunity to enjoy the finest examples of painting, sculpture and the other arts.

Lives Within Income.

"Broad-minded municipalities in other cities, inspired by the example of St. Louis, and continuing to do for the maintenance of their own museums, in many instances far greater than the sums available here. The museum lives within its income and the balance referred to in discussions refers only to sums wisely held in reserve for operation throughout the year. This balance is always larger in spring than at any other time, as the great bulk of tax collections are made available in January.

We regard the attempt on the part of the Board of Aldermen to gain control of the funds voted by the people for the maintenance of the three above-mentioned institutions—the City Art Museum, the Zoo and the Public Library—as a blow struck at three above-mentioned institutions which are the sources of great pride and happiness of all of our people, and are therefore resolved to resist this movement.

Law Passed by Vote.

The Art Museum tax law was passed in 1925, when the people of St. Louis by a vote of 27,721 to 7,605 approved a special tax of two cents on the $100 valuation for its support. This law was attacked and taken to the Supreme Court, where in 1912 Judge Lamm in a decision concurred in by his associates, upheld all its provisions except one clause, which provided that the board of control would be self-perpetuating and consisted of the members obtained from the tax.

Since then the City Controller has collected and held the museum's funds, being required, however, to honor all its warrants. The same has been true of the library tax, four cents on the $100 valuation, voted 73,645 to 10,184 in 1901, and the two-cent Zoo tax, voted 40,264 to 26,132 in 1916.

The present administration by its recent action seeks to collect the museum tax of two cents on general municipal purposes. Thus the museum, library and zoo, instead of being assured of about $900,000 a year in revenue, would be forced to join with various city hall departments in the battle for appropriations before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Argument of Neun.

Yesterday, President Neun of the Board of Aldermen issued a statement in which he sought to exonerate the board and himself as its president of blame in the passage of the tax bill last Friday. He argued that the board was acting in the best interest of the three institutions in passing the bill as written. "If we had changed the rate to $1.27 for municipal activities and 8 cents for institutions," he wrote, "then if the institutions had lost their fight, they would indeed be up against it, because then there would not have been any money left to even maintain them."

Neun did not mention, however, that with Mayor Miller and Comptroller Nolte, he is a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment which drafted the bill omitting the special taxes. Their position was bolstered by a legal opinion written for the occasion by Associate City Counselor Dolan and overlooking the 35-year-old Museum ruling, which held special tax laws invalid.

Dolan held the tax laws unconstitutional for three reasons, because they are in the nature of an attempt to amend the Constitution of the State, because they invade the province of the City Charter, and because they fall to make definite provisions for the repeal or reduction of the taxes.

Division of City Taxes.

The constitution fixed the maximum tax rate for municipal purposes in St. Louis at $1.25 on the $100 valuation. The special taxes, by the provisions of the laws which created them, must be collected within this maximum of $1.25, which leaves a maximum of $1.27 over which the city administration can exercise its authority.

The only way to increase the maximum rate would be by a constitutional amendment submitted to a vote of the entire State, a difficulty which it is almost impossible to overcome inasmuch as out-of-State voters are inclined to vote on anything, particularly a tax measure.

Hence, the Board of Estimate has but one avenue in its search for more money, an arbitrary elimination of the special taxes.

Comptroller Nolte for years has been opposed to the special taxes and has argued reasonably to support his view. Over a period of years the income of the three institutions has increased steadily with the increase of taxable values. The Police Department budget, principally because of increased salaries, has gone up more than $2,000,000 since 1921.

View of Comptroller.

Comptroller Nolte's argument is that other departments have suffered reductions in their appropriations.

FIRE DESTROYS OIL STATION
OF FORMER BIRGER GANGSTER

Property of Harvey Dungey Believed to Have Been Fired as Act of Revenge.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., May 3.—A filling station, owned by Harvey Dungey, former Birger gangster who has broken with Charley Birger, gang leader, was destroyed by fire at an early hour today. The building was a three-room stucco structure and contained an electric piano, bed and other household effects. No one was in the building, and while there appears to be no evidence of incendiarism, it is believed that Birger gangster fired the station to avenge a recent attempt of Dungey and others to set fire to Birger's home in Harrisburg. A roadhouse nearby, also owned by Dungey, was not damaged.

Dungey is in jail at Benton on an automobile theft charge, and Wayne Sprague of Marion, who operated a barbecue stand in Dungey's place, was arrested yesterday for the murder April 10 of Jack Sapinski in West Frankfort.

Crosley Ordered to Carry Out De Forest Plan.

By the Associated Press.
PATERSON, N. J., May 3.—An order directing Powell Crosley Jr., Cincinnati radio manufacturer, to go through with his plan to reorganize the De Forest Radio Co. of Jersey City, or forfeit the expenses of the receivership, was signed to-day by Vice-Chancellor Lewis. The order is returnable next Monday in Jersey City.

Last fall, while the De Forest company was in the hands of a receiver, Crosley offered to take over the business. His offer included an advance of $300,000 for operating expenses, and was approved by Vice-Chancellor Lewis. Arthur M. Lord, former president of the De Forest concern and now receiver, told Lewis Crosley had failed to complete the deal.

Q. Why does Web Cord add to the mileage of United States Tires?

A. Consider first what happens in a balloon tire—the extent to which the side-wall structure must constantly bend and recover. Combined flexibility and strength are demanded far beyond the needs of high-pressure tires.

Web Cord is the completely satisfying answer to these requirements. By soaking the cord in pure, liquid latex, each tiny fibre of the cotton is insulated with rubber. And this more intimate union between cord and rubber is accomplished without the use of weakening chemical solvents.

Furthermore, the latex webs the cords together without the use of cross-tie threads. One of the major causes of internal friction is removed.

The result is maximum strength with maximum flexibility—which means maximum mileage.

BOY'S MUTILATED BODY FOUND IN BAG IN RIVER

Hand Cut Off, Skull Fractured
—No Clew to Fredericksburg (Va.) Mystery.

By the Associated Press.
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., May 3.—Police turned their efforts today toward solving the murder of 9-year-old Albert Baker, found in the Rappahannock River, his body mutilated and tied in a weighted sack. The boy had been missing since Feb. 22.

Mayor King has called in special detectives. There is no clew. The boy disappeared suddenly from one of the main streets of the city. His body floated to shore in spite of the weights placed in the bag containing it. One hand was cut off.

Coroner Cole disclosed that the skull had been fractured at the base, but that no other bones were broken. This finding upset a tentative theory that the boy had been run over by an automobile and the body thrown into the river to escape prosecution.

Secretary of War Amaro Announces Second Group of Assassins Has Been Punished.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, May 3.—Further punishment has been inflicted upon the band which attacked the Guadalajara train two weeks ago. Secretary of War Amaro announced today that the rebels, divided into groups of 150 each, were overtaken by Federal forces at Los Pastores and La Culebra, 39 being killed and more than 30 being wounded. The troops captured 126 horses, as well as guns and ammunition.

When the rebels were overtaken at El Guitarrero Valley, State of Jalisco, soon after the train attack, 60 were killed.

Nearly 50 soldiers and about 50 passengers were killed and 50 passengers injured in the train attack.

SAYS POLICEMAN KIDNAPED GIRL AT POINT OF REVOLVER

Missing Telephone Operator's Sister Tells Story; Wife Reports Officer Gone.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 3.—Police last night sent out a general alarm for a policeman and an 18-year-old telephone operator on a complaint that he had kidnapped the girl at the point of a revolver.

Agent Rawl, 12, told the police she saw Patrolman Charles Johnson, $1, point his revolver at her sister, Catherine, Saturday evening, and force her to go away with him in a taxicab. Johnson's wife reported that her husband had disappeared. He has two children, aged 10 and 14.

BROKEN PIPE ON PLANE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CROYDON, England, May 3.—About half an hour before the giant French airplane had left Croydon the other day and was in full flight, it was noticed that the petrol pipe was broken. The mechanician crowded out on one of the wings and tried to mend the pipe, but finding this was impossible, he held the two ends together with his hands, thus making it possible for the flight to continue for 45 minutes.

The mechanician was in continual danger of falling off. Eight passengers were on board.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By

Marguerite Mooers Marshall

HOME AFFAIRS.

The Servant in Our House
HEN one woman solves a feminine problem, others like to know how she has done it. So perhaps you won't be bored hearing about Winnie, our present answer to the problem which Mrs. Louis A. Jaffer of Cedarhurst, L. I., has set women hereabouts discussing for the 943d time.

Mrs. Jaffer, as you may remember, is the wife, mother and housewife who has written to President Coolidge and to many Senators and Representatives urging that the immigration law be amended to permit the entry of more domestic servants. She says that the present shortage is threatening the existence of the American home.

"If some relief measures are not at once put into effect real home life and atmosphere among the great majority of our people will be to a large extent destroyed," she declares. That, we think, is emphasis more tragic than the situation requires, since "the great majority" of American housewives are their own servants—they do practically all the work in their homes. They may send the washing outside, or hire an outside worker to wash and clean for them one or two days a week, but there is no shortage of such workers or of laundry.

Is there a real shortage of servants who will live in the house? If so, why? And would Mrs. Jaffer's plan for increased immigration remedy matters? As we understand it, she thinks that domestic servants can be registered as such when admitted to the country, and can be made to report, very so often, that they are still cooks and housemaids, on penalty of deportation.

Without another constitutional amendment, how can any woman be forced, in America, to do any work she doesn't choose to do? But are such drastic measures necessary? Is any woman unable to get a servant provided (a) that she will pay decent wages and (b) that she will give fair treatment?

We doubt it. Mrs. Jaffer speaks categorically of the inability of families living in small suburban homes to get servants. And so a veteran of 11 years of suburban life, we come back to Winnie, our own black pearl of the kitchen.

WINNIE, our present solution of the servant problem is a middle-aged, plump, pleasant, competent colored woman. She is a most meticulous cleaner. Our husband's mother—an experienced and veteran housekeeper—says that Winnie's nuances and niceties in scrubbing, sweeping, and dusting go beyond anything she herself would ever think of exacting.

Winnie is an admirable plain cook; her breakfasts are light and soft, her pie crust is flaky, her chocolate cake is the Flapper's dream. Winnie is a competent laundress.

And she is the pleasantest creature to have around the house! She sings softly to herself as she works. She never demurs at company. She is unusually interested and appreciative about the new furnishings for the Flapper's cold room of her own little spring hat. Once, when we had people for the week-end, we told Winnie, Monday night, how much our friends had liked her frosted lemon pie. She had been working hard over the laundry, but she looked up from the ironing board with a wide smile that showed all her white teeth.

"I been laughing to myself all day, to think what a good time you all had," said Winnie.

NO, she's not perfect. Sometimes her broiled bacon is too soft, and her broiled ham too hard. Nobody invariably strikes 12, with the products of his or her labor. Like many careful workers, she is slow—painfully slow at times, if a pretty housewife were watching her.

We don't fret or watch. She knows that breakfast must be ready at a certain time, because people have to catch trains and go to school. She gets up early enough so that her slowness doesn't interfere with the meal's preparations. Dinner, however, may be 15 minutes to half an hour later than its informally scheduled hour. What of it? Why make a fuss? It's the last thing we should dream of doing.

Winnie is called "the Wonder" by the family, but it's partly the alliteration which tempts them. In the essentials of competence she is no better than Ada and Emma, her dusky predecessors. When they gummed the domestic works it was because they "lived out," instead of "living in," and their more or less parasitic relatives interfered with the work and the time for which we were paying. The working arrangement was wrong; we shall never consent to it again. But these women were on hand, the babies as well, as loyally, as cheerfully as Winnie herself.

AND the only thing our family has ever done to get servants, or to get a square deal from them, is to give them a square deal. All of us treat them as human beings, we pay Winnie somewhere near the money we would want if we had to perform the work of a house. We praise her when the pie is perfect, or the hot rolls melting in the mouth. She has all her evenings off her Sunday and Thursday afternoons; nor does anybody try to think up work for her during the hours of those other after-

MODISH MITZI

Nothing Nicer
in Paris

By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi isn't really going to do much shopping. "Silly to shop now," she says to Polly, "I'm going to Paris so soon." Polly agrees with her, but Polly isn't going to Paris and Polly wants a new hat. A large one, perhaps. It's going to be time for large ones soon and Polly does believe in preparedness. Or one like the tiny affair with loops of ribbon running up the back or the one next to it with the halo slightly crooked across its crown. Polly's helmet, with its ruffle of ribbon, really looks smart enough to do very well.

It would do, of course. It isn't that Polly needs a hat. She just wants one. Mitzi's hat has an irregularly turned back brim and a cluster of ribbon on one side. The hat they are both admiring is a turban with a top of blue velvet and a band of Milan straw.

Mitzi simply had to try it on. In addition to its other virtues, it has a rhinestone studded earring pin and that is too much for Mitzi to resist. Polly thought she was going to do the shopping, but as Mitzi explains, "I'm going away—and there's nothing smarter in Paris."

Smart Dressing Gowns.
There are two distinct uses for dressing gowns today. One is for the comfort hour at home, when one can lie back and relax in the flowing nothingness of silk or whatever you like. The other use is for beach wear. The latter idea has been springing up very fast of late, and the men who decry it as a sign of national decay may be referred to as the "horror example," a Los Angeles man has just been granted a divorce, and we know the husband of a column conductor who handed his wife a clipping of the story without saying a word.

DO YOU worry? If not you are the only person who doesn't. If you do worry, and you do, you know how it goes.

But there is a lot about worry that, for a brief period at least, you should worry to think about.

Feelings of anxiety, apprehension, suspense are depressing emotions.

If long continued, they produce a sense of strain, diminish the feelings of well-being, make the surroundings seem unpleasant and dull. They make us either unconscious or morbidly conscious of the needs of others and ourselves. They spoil our recreation, appetite and digestion. They make us tired and prevent us from sleeping.

Bodily health by itself has very little effect on the healthy mind. Strain of mind often creates before the strain of the body is felt.

Through the network of the innumerable cells of the body are built into one harmonious unit. "Although every separate unit of the nervous system can conduct its own affairs, all these units are under the supervision of the highest nervous centers of the brain which constantly exercises some control, even over actions which might seem purely automatic.

Fluctuations in control by the brain may vary the activity of the body and of its constituent tissues and cells from an excessively high vitality to an excessively low one. If the mind is overactive bodily sensations, thoughts and the resulting reactions are strengthened, but if the mind is working sluggishly both reactions and sensations are damped.

The emotional changes are the factors most potent in disturbing the control of the body by the brain. Fear, anger, pain or the creative instinct operate reflexes in the nervous system which take precedence over other reflexes. They weaken or exaggerate the other reflexes.

The more the mind is dominated by these emotions, the less chance have the reflexes which we use in breathing, digesting, working and playing to be active.

A man living under the influence of fear tends to go about half stooping, with his shoulders bowed, just to "slink about." This is because among the earliest reflexes to be superseded by the reflex of fear, are those which maintain an upright carriage.

A man in a state of chronic anxiety is largely indifferent to most bodily sensations. Things that would give the ordinary man pain and pleasure pass over his head. His emotions of anxiety and fear are so strong that they hold up the minor commonplace emotions. The melancholic patient in a mental hospital is a man in an extreme of anxiety, one who's emotions are no longer under control, but he is not essentially different from the merely anxious man. What difference there is one of degree and not of kind.

When the mind is preoccupied with anger, the reactions are not inhibited, but exaggerated. The sensations are stronger than when the mind is balanced. There is an overactivity of all the bodily processes. The maniac is only an extreme instance of this state. He is an angry man who has let his emotions get permanently out of hand.

Spring Bags.

NEW YORK—Some bags for evening are shaped like the old fashioned reticules of grandmother's girlhood but are covered with opalescent sequins and trimmed with long crystal fringes. On the floral bags, raised fruits and flowers form the mountings.

Laughing Around

THE BARE FACTS OF THE CASE.

NO matter how far I may have fared about the world seeking stories of various climes and various peoples, I am quite certain, each time I touch Broadway in my native land to pick up one which is typical of the soil and of the times.

As you may have noted from reading the news columns of this paper, there has lately been considerable agitation in New York touching on the broadness of certain so-called sex dramas. The effort on the part of clean-minded individuals and decent officials to clear up that department of stage endeavor made the front page almost daily. But somehow the musical shows where nudity has become a commonplace and customary thing, have almost altogether escaped the review wave.

Apropos of the prevalent condition there's a yarn which I think illuminating even though it probably never happened except in the imagination of some student of current affairs.

It is told that a New Yorker from his office in the Bright Light District at the northern boundary of the Old Tenderloin called up a friend whose place of business was half a mile nearer the East River.

"Say old man!" he began, "beat it over here to Forty-fourth street as quick as you can make it."

"I'm busy. What's the big idea?"

"No matter how busy you are, come on across town. There's something on foot you can't afford to miss."

"Well, unless it's very interesting I don't—"

"Interesting? Listen! To advertise their newest revue, So-and-So Brothers are fixing to put on an open-air stunt that'll beat anything that's ever been done, even here in New York. Unless the police stop them they're going to start the prettiest chorus girls they've got down Broadway—Lady Godiva stuff, see?—riding on a magnificient horse and—"

"Hang up!" yelled his friend excitedly. "You've said enough—I'll be right over. Why, I haven't seen a good-looking horse around this town for years and years!"

Washing Bric-a-Brac

By Wanda Barto.

SPRING housecleaning may bring the housewives' attention to their bric-a-brac and other things that the vacuum cleaner can't handle. It takes understanding and proper agents to clean up these things perfectly. Those who have made a study of it have perfect powders, pastes, creams, soaps and polishes for each substance of which ornaments are made.

For the china and glassware, simple washing is sufficient—lukewarm water in a wooden dish-tub, a folded clean cloth on the bottom to keep the soaps from slipping, white soap, with a little ammonia in the water and clean cloths for both washing and drying the articles.

For the marble and alabaster ornaments there is a specially prepared paste with which to coat the surface and when it stands a few minutes it is wiped off with a dry cloth and the ornaments are dried.

For the bronze and silverware,

Bronzes are cleaned with soft cloths first, freedom from all dust. Then there is a liquid with which they are treated and a fine brush that removes every bit of dirt. After this they are again wiped with a clean, soft cloth.

There are certain polishing brass, copper, pewter, nickel and wrought iron. Here again it pays to get that approved by the authorities if one values these possessions.

Well, we had breakfast and Joan washed the dishes, and she said, "Can you walk to the table for breakfast, or must I bring it to you in bed?" and from the way she said it I thought she had better walk to the table, and I did, and my foot hurt like heck.

I think you should keep a crutch or two around the house, because you never know what is going to happen to you these days.

So we had breakfast and Joan washed the dishes, and she said, "I'm going down to the basement now to do the baby's washing. I'll put him in his buggy and you can amuse him until I get back, and I will give him his bath then," and she did, and she started out with a big basket of clothes, and I said, "My god, just a hick ever wear."

Joan said, "I'll call the office and tell them that you can't get down to the office."

A NEW STORY OF
LOVE, ADVENTURE
AND MYSTERY

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.

CARILLON PLEADS.

CARILLON told Bengal she saw their enemies' boat sink while he was lying there unconscious.

"Then why were you all set to shoot there behind the rock when I came to?"

"I thought I heard a noise. But it was only the splash of a fish leaping, I think."

Bengal checked his questionnaire. The answers all tallied, made sense. He did not need to ask who she had not told him sooner than the pirates had gone. India, perhaps, had ended up with this faculty of sensing motives, or it may have been merely an inheritance from ancestors who had been thinkers, professional men who had pursued with distinction the practice of law, medicine, theology and science. At any rate, he did not need to be told that Carillon had first kept him in ignorance of the danger being run, because she desired to keep him close to her as she as might be. Her loving soul made demanded that he rest absolutely on recovering from a concussion violent enough to stun him, with the considerable loss of blood.

But all of this fostering care was forgotten, thrown aside, the instant that she had learned of his having got possession of the jewels and hidden them away. She could not wait to see and handle those glorious gems, even in the dark. Disregarded were his hurts and weakness, the despairing death less faint or exhausted. Less importantly, her desire to keep him close to her took no hurt, rouse out his blood-soaked hair and bandage the wound were overborne in her impatience to gratify her ruling passion, the mania for wonderful and precious gems. She had seemed even to chafe when he lingered a few moments to hold the drinking-cup against the race of the rock where the sweet water welled up and trickled slowly down. It had needed several fillings to assuage the burning thirst that follows a traumatic accident, and Carillon's restiveness while he had done so was painfully apparent.

Yes, her brother had been right, Bengal somberly reflected, in stating that Carillon's grand passion was and always would be for nature's most sinister temptation elaborated by the cunning handiwork of men that concentrated intensity of beauty that can stab like the poignant pain, the anguish that lurks for some in perfect gems cut and skinned and polished by the master craftsman. Nothing could ever rival this girl's craving for such. It possessed her wholly. Bengal now perceived, was as she had said shuttled into the warp and woof of her. In the close presence of such a bit of pure carbon as might require a molten mountain in the throes of its creation to produce, on a lustrous morsel of calcium carbonate built up into a globular concretion by a distended bivalve, the thing of priceless value. Carillon was obsessed. She forgot pride, decency, caste obligations, and even a love that only a few moments previously had seemed to sweep her like a flame.

Yet Bengal for all his dull hopeless pain was fair enough to admit that here was merely a normal human impulse, gone wild, just as many other such may do; the cravings for drink or drugs or beauty in some other form, animal or inanimate; the ardor for the intelligence; a special sense whether of sight, smell, hearing, taste or touch. It must be the result of an abnormal hypertrophy of some trophic center, or combination of such, sans the corrective, the mental or spiritual governor.

Then, as they stumbled along

OLD GRAY FARMHOUSE BRINGS UP MEMORIES

It Does Seem Rather Shocking That Place Which Inspired John Howard Payne's Song
Is Offered at Auction.

By WINIFRED BLACK.

FOR SALE—home, sweet home! The old gray farmhouse down on Long Island—the one that made John Howard Payne write "Home, Sweet Home."

For sale at auction, too, if you please.

How I wish I could step across the continent and go down there to Long Island and bid it in.

I'd love to live to "Home, Sweet Home"—wouldn't you?

It's an old-fashioned, weather-beaten, old-blown, gray farmhouse, they say, with a porch and a kitchen and a parlor—don't you dare call it a living-room—and some bedrooms and a wide fireplace. What more do you want in this world than that?

A fireplace and a kitchen and a place to sleep—and a song—who could be richer than that?

The wind must have loved the old farmhouse. The sun smiled down on it. Oh, what would you give, who are world-born and tired, of the fuses, the feathers and the hypocrites, the pretenses, when all you give is to slip away just for a week and live in the little old gray farmhouse and sit by the fire and listen to the rain beating on the roof and hear the wind singing in the old elm tree at the gate?

"Mid pleasures and palaces"—oh, they're all right, the pleasures—for awhile—and so are the palaces.

For beauty, for inspiration, for nobility—there's nothing like a palace, marble, if you can get it, and with its golden galleries, and broad staircases and great halls and ancestral portraits and statues and fountains and pavilions. Only I always feel as if nobody ought to live in a palace but someone who could wear white satin and pearls down to breakfast; and look all right in them, even at 6 o'clock in the morning.

There's a place I know and its in America, too—it's a great glorious garden, full of moon flowers and African lilies and datura trees that hang out their silver bells in the moonlight.

There's night-blooming jasmine
